ANNUAL REPORT OF THE TEACHER EDUCATION PROGRAM (TEP)
AT THE SAN GERMAN CAMPUS
OF THE INTER AMERICAN UNIVERSITY OF PUERTO RICO
(For Academic Year 2013-2014, posted on April, 2015)

Introduction

The TEP is an institutional program offered in eight campuses or institutional units of the Inter American University of Puerto Rico. Its conceptual framework is included in the General Catalog 2013-2015 (IAUPR, 2015^d). This program includes general education requirements, in addition to the major and core courses' components. The TEP is exactly the same for all campuses that are authorized to offer it.

The San Germán Campus offers a Bachelor of Arts degree in Preschool Level Education; Early Childhood Education (levels K-3rd and 4th-6th), Secondary Education (Biology, Chemistry, History Mathematics, Social Studies, Spanish and English); School Health; Physical Education and Recreation (Elementary and Secondary levels, and Adapted); Special Education; Teaching English as a Second Language (Elementary and Secondary levels); Art Education; and Music Education. These options or majors meet the requirements for teacher certification granted by the Department of Education of Puerto Rico (DEPR, 2012).

The TEP's organizational chart is presented in Figure I. It is one program that is administered by two academic departments. The Department of Education and Physical Education is in charge of the options or majors: Early Childhood: Pre-school, K-3rd and 4th-6th; Teaching English as a Second Language (TESL): Elementary and Secondary; Special Education; School Health; Physical Education: Elementary, Secondary, Adapted; and Secondary Education: Biology, Chemistry, History, Mathematics, Social Studies, and Spanish. The Department of Fine Arts administered the options or majors: Arts Education (Visual Arts), and Music Education (General-Vocal, and Instrumental).

1. General information about the Teacher Education Program (TEP)

1.1 Curriculum framework

In July 2014, the TEP was revised and established its Theoretical and Methodological frame. It is presented as follows (IAUPR, 2015^d, pp. 160-163):

The Teacher Education Program (TEP) of Inter American University of Puerto Rico (IAUPR) constitutes an answer to the needs and aspirations of a society in constant change and to the requirements of the Certification of Teachers Regulations of the Puerto Rico Department of Education. For this, it takes as its basis the Vision, the Mission and the Goals of IAUPR, the University's conception of an educated person, the Professional Standards of Teachers adopted by the Puerto Rico Department of Education, and the "Standards of Accreditation" of the Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation (CAEP).

Theoretical and Methodological Frame of the TEP

The Teacher Education Program has a psycho philosophical foundation of a behaviorist, constructivist and humanist character. This approach can be considered as an eclectic conceptual model, which allows the Program to integrate, in an organized way, principles of the three theoretical frames in its curricular designs and in its pedagogical practice leading to the formation of the future teacher. This frame of theoretical and methodological reference will serve as a guide of the TEP for decision making and actions related to its development and its curricular revision and assessment processes, in harmony with the highest standards of quality and educational excellence.

It could be indicated, that although the TEP is based on an eclectic conceptual paradigm, it gives more emphasis to the constructivist and humanist theoretical perspectives. Under the constructivist perspective the aspiring teacher is considered as an active and totally reflective person in his professional formation process. On the other hand, the humanist approach orients the educational process of the future teacher towards his integral development as a being human, in such a way, that he contributes his competencies of knowledge, skills, attitudes and values to improve the quality of life of his students and society.

It is important to mention that during the last half of the last century, and during the part of the current century that has past, education in Puerto Rico has been framed, generally, in two learning theories: the behavioral theory and the cognitive theory. In the last decades the idea of a constructivist approach in learning and in the curriculum has acquired particular interest among educators. The psychological frame of constructivism is delimited by cognitive theories of learning, and within the curriculum of the TEP, it is founded on a humanist basis of education. From the perspective of the philosophy and psychology of education, constructivism presents a coherent explanation of how a person learns by means of an active process of construction of knowledge through significant experiences, whereas the humanist vision in the curriculum promotes the professional and social commitment of the future teacher to attend to the educational needs and interests of the diverse student populations, with sensitivity.

This implies that all teacher education programs must provide a wide variety of educational experiences for the academic formation of the aspiring teachers, directed toward the maximum development of a pedagogical culture. These practical and formative educational experiences will permit the future teacher to establish a connection between the theoretical knowledge and the pedagogical practice, in a pertinent context of human formation.

In order to give direction to its vision, mission and declaration of goals statements, the TEP uses the professional standards of teachers established by the Puerto Rico Department of Education and by the CAEP. These standards have as their main purpose to delineate the professional characteristics that the teacher must have to achieve that the students develop, in an integral way, their capacities and potentialities to the maximum in all dimensions as human beings, within a context of a culture of peace and acceptance of diversity. In addition, these standards establish the indicators of the qualities that the teachers must have to facilitate their students' learning of knowledge, skills and attitudes. It is important to indicate that the standards also serve the teacher as parameters for him to reflect on his continuous professional development and how this must be in harmony with the learning needs of his students.

In synthesis, the task of educational formation is a complex one and is a great social responsibility. In order to assume this responsibility, the TEP has designed a curriculum focused on how to prepare the teachers that society needs and demands, as an effective means to improve its quality of life.

Vision of the TEP

The Program aspires to develop a series of integrated educational experiences, focused on the professional formation of a teacher of excellence. That is to say, that the teacher will contribute to the educational scenario with his professional competencies of knowledge, skills and attitudes necessary to promote changes and answers adapted to the educational environment. Primarily, the Program aims to prepare a teacher, who is knowledgeable of the problems of education in Puerto Rico and in other countries, in such a way that he will be able to collaborate in the process of constructive changes that will improve his quality of life and that of others.

Mission of the TEP

The Program is directed to the formation of teachers within a curriculum that provides an accumulation of articulated experiences which, at the same time, provides space for the construction of the pedagogical knowledge and content that will develop the future teacher. These experiences will be characterized by continuous reflection, practice in real scenarios, research, collaboration, relevance of the contents, pedagogical modeling and the search and use of means that will provide solutions to the typical problems of the teaching-learning processes in different contexts. In this curriculum the components of the general education, core and major courses will be integrated.

Goals of the TEP

In harmony with the vision and the mission for the TEP, the following goals, in coherence with the profile of competencies of graduates of the Program, are established.

1. Develop educational professionals focused on the mastery of the knowledge of the discipline within the context of a scientific, pedagogical and humanist culture.

In the other hand, the IAUPR curriculum is composed of three interrelated components: general education, majors (specialization) and electives, which address the holistic development of the student in terms of a liberal arts education (IAUPR, 2015^d). The TEP's curriculum consists of the following components:

1. General Education – The General Education Program emphasizes the development of a personal and social conscience, the refinement of communication skills, quantitative and philosophical thought; the use of technology as a means of access to information; the cultivation of ethical and esthetical sensitivity; the knowledge of principles of faith and Christian practice. This Program, which offers a comprehensive education of human knowledge, is structured on the following categories: Basic Skills; Philosophic and Esthetic Thought; Christian Thought; Historic and Social Context; Scientific and Technological Context; and Health, Physical Education and Recreation. Fifty four (54) credits are required in General Education for the TEP.
2. Core courses – This component includes the education courses that offer professional knowledge to the teacher candidate. Its areas are: Fundamental Knowledge, Methodology, and Field and Clinical Experiences. Two new courses were added titled EDUC 4551 Integration of Basic Knowledge and Communication Skills and EDUC 4552 Integration of Professional Skills. The approval of these courses is a requirement for obtaining authorization to take the Teacher Certification Standardized Tests known as Pruebas para la Certificación de Maestros de Puerto Rico (PCMAS, their Spanish acronym). It is also included the course HIST 3010 Historical Process of the United States of America which is required by the Department of Education of Puerto Rico for the teacher certification (DEPR, 2006).
3. Major courses – The major includes the courses oriented toward the specific subject-matter and pedagogical knowledge for the teacher candidate.
4. Specialization courses – The specialization requirement is present in the Physical Education Major, where the teacher candidate selects a specialized area (Adapted, Elementary Physical Education or Secondary Physical Education).
5. Electives courses – Electives refer to free courses that the teacher candidate can take according to his/her interests and needs.

1.2 Majors

The majors, components and total of credits of the TEP in the San Germán Campus are presented in Table 1. The difference in the number of credits is due to the process of curricular revision that the TEP underwent in the last years. The changes had taken into account the changes in the requirements of de DEPR for the teacher certification or license, and the areas that need to be strengthened according to the results of the Teacher Certification Standardized Tests (PCMAS).

1.7 Graduation rates

The Institutional Office for Student Retention (IAUPR, 201^b) prepared a report for the graduation rates of TEP at the San Germán Campus. The analysis of the rates applied the same methodology and standards used for the Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS). The graduation rates were calculated for students enrolled in TEP majors who graduated in 6 or less years, and for student who changed of major but remained in the TEP. Data are presented in Table 6. The graduation rates were: 20% for Cohort 2006, 19% for Cohort 2007, and 19% for Cohort 2008 (Mean=19%).

1.8 Retention rates

The Institutional Office for Student Retention (IAUPR, 201^h) prepared a report for the retention rates of TEP at the San Germán Campus. The analysis of the rates was applied the same methodology and standards used for the Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS). The retention rates were calculated for students enrolled in TEP majors who remained in the Campus after the first year of studies, and for student who changed of major but remained in the TEP and in the Campus after the first year of studies. Data are presented in Table 7. The retention rates were: 50% for Cohort 2011, 67% for Cohort 2012, and 56% for Cohort 2013 (Mean=58%).

2. Accomplishment of Accreditation Standards 1 and 4 of CAEP (2013) and TEP's Claims (2015)

2.1 TEP's Claims (2015) and CAEP Accreditation Standards (2013)

The TEP's Claims (revised in March 2015) are the followings:

- Claim 1. Subject matter knowledge: Teacher candidates and the completers (graduates) of the TEP demonstrate knowledge in their subject matter by

- achieving a performance above the passing scores of standardized test for teacher certification (PCMAS) and 80% (“B”, above average attainment) or more.
- Claim 2. Pedagogical knowledge: Teacher candidates and completers (graduates) of the TEP demonstrate pedagogical knowledge and the required skills to apply them to the teaching of their subject matter by achieving a performance above the passing scores of standardized test for teacher certification (PCMAS) and 80% (above average attainment or satisfactory) or more.
 - Claim 3. Caring and Effective Teaching Skills (Professional Dispositions): Teacher candidates and completers (graduates) of the TEP demonstrate commitment and positive attitudes toward their students and to teaching and professional development by achieving a performance of 80% (above average attainment or satisfactory) or more.
 - Claim 4.1 Cross-cutting theme Learning How to Learn: Teacher candidates and completers (graduates) of the TEP demonstrate that they have learned how to access information on their own (research), that they can transfer what they have learned to new situations, and that they have acquired the attitudes and skills that will support life-long learning in their field by achieving a performance of above average attainment or satisfactory or more.
 - Claim 4.2 Cross-cutting theme Diversity: Teacher candidates and completers (graduates) of the TEP demonstrate that they have learned accurate and sound information on matters of diversity (race, gender, individual differences, and ethnic and cultural perspectives) by achieving a performance of above average attainment, or satisfactory or more.
 - Claim 4.3 Cross-cutting theme Technology: Teacher candidates and completers (graduates) of the TEP are able to use classroom technology by achieving performance of above average attainment or satisfactory or more.

The Standards of CAEP (2013) are the followings:

- Standard 1. Content and Pedagogical Knowledge: The provider ensures that candidates develop a deep understanding of the critical concepts and principles of their discipline and, by completion, are able to use discipline-specific practices flexibly to advance the learning of all students toward attainment of college- and career-readiness standards.
- Standard 2. Clinical Partnerships and Practice: The provider ensures that effective partnerships and high-quality clinical practice are central to preparation so that candidates develop the knowledge, skills, and professional dispositions necessary to demonstrate positive impact on all P-12 students’ learning and development.
- Standard 3: Candidate Quality, Recruitment, and Selectivity: The provider demonstrates that the quality of candidates is a continuing and purposeful part of its responsibility from recruitment, at admission, through the progression of courses and clinical experiences, and to decisions that completers are prepared to teach effectively and are recommended for certification. The provider demonstrates that development of candidate quality is the goal of educator preparation in all phases of the program. This process is ultimately determined by a program’s meeting of Standard 4.

- Standard 4: Program Impact: The provider demonstrates the impact of its completers on P-12 student learning and development, classroom instruction, and schools, and the satisfaction of its completers with the relevance and effectiveness of their preparation.
- Standard 5: Provider Quality Assurance and Continuous Improvement: The provider maintains a quality assurance system comprised of valid data from multiple measures, including evidence of candidates’ and completers’ positive impact on P-12 student learning and development. The provider supports continuous improvement that is sustained and evidence-based, and that evaluates the effectiveness of its completers. The provider uses the results of inquiry and data collection to establish priorities, enhance program elements and capacity, and test innovations to improve completers’ impact on P-12 student learning and development.

The progress report for academic year 2013-2014 presents the findings for the accomplishment of Accreditation Standard 1 and 2 of CAEP (2013). The TEP’s claims (2015) are presented under each accreditation standard.

2.3 Standard 1: Content and Pedagogical Knowledge

Claim 1: Subject Matter Knowledge

Teacher candidates and the completers (graduates) of the TEP demonstrate knowledge in their subject matter by achieving a performance above the passing scores of standardized test for teacher certification (PCMAS) and 80% (“B”, above average attainment) or more.

Evidence 1.1 Major (Specialization) Exams in PCMAS

The subject matter knowledge is evaluated by the Teacher Certification Tests (PCMAS) in the Major exams (College Board^{b,c}, 2010, 2011, 2012, 2013, 2014). The passing scores for Major or Specialization knowledge are reported by College Board and are presented in Table 10. All majors evidenced bigger means than the passing scores, and their means were bigger than the statewide means. In the other hand, all means of TEP’s teacher candidates that took PCMAS in 2011 (104.7), 2012 (107.3), 2013 (110.7) and 2014 (120.0) were greater than 2010, the base-line data (104.0).

Evidence 1.2 Aggregate Assessment Level Pass-Rate for Specialization (Subject matter Knowledge) in PCMAS

The second evidence related to PCMAS and the first accreditation standard of CAEP I is the Aggregate-Assessment Level Pass-Rate Data for Regular Teacher Preparation Program. This report is submitted by College Board^a (2010-2011, 2011-2012, 2012-2013, 2013-2014) to the TEP of San Germán Campus. The report certifies the proportion of program teacher candidates who passed all the tests they took in each knowledge area, among all program completers who took one or more tests in each area. In Table 11 is presented the aggregate-assessment level pass-rate for Specialization (Subject matter Knowledge). There is a net difference between TEP and Statewide (2011 to 2014) of 11% in favor of TEP. The institution pass rate of TEP's teacher candidates of 2014 (100%) was greater than the base-line data year of 2010 (96%), the other years were lower than the base-line data year (2011=89%, 2012=95%, and 2013=78%).

Evidence 1.3 Major (Specialization) Exams in PCMAS and Major’s GPA of Teacher Candidates

The third evidence of the subject matter knowledge is provided by the data analysis of official academic transcripts of the TEP’s teacher candidates as were reported by the Registrar Office. Table 12 presents information about the performance of our teacher candidates in PCMAS, and in major courses. In general terms, the mean in PCMAS of the TEP’s teacher candidates for the major or subject matter (2013 & 2014) was higher than the passing score for the different measured areas (Major: 113.0 vs. 93.8), and their academic performance is interpreted as “above average academic achievement” in subject matter courses (Major mean = 3.37 or “B”) according to the grading system at the University (IAUPR, 2015d). The performance of teacher candidates in 2013 and 2014 in PCMAS was lower than teacher candidates in 2010 (base-line data) but greater in GPA in Major.

Evidence 1.4 Subject matter knowledge according to Self-evaluation of Teacher Candidates

Other data for the subject matter knowledge was measured with the Questionnaire Self-evaluation of Teacher Candidates. This instrument has a Likert type scale. Questions A.3 (I know and understand the concepts, processes, skills and values of the subject I teach) and A.5 (I know the philosophical and programmatic principles of my discipline (Standards, Expectations and Curriculum Framework)) were aligned with Accreditation Standard 1 and with Claim 1.1. Table 13 presents these data. Information about the Music Education candidates was not included because they did not answer the self-evaluation questionnaire in MUED 4915/4919 and MUED 4916/4920. The teacher candidates (Dec 2012 to May 2014) totally agreed that the TEP developed in them their subject matter knowledge (4.61 in a Likert type scale of 5 points). Their answers were homogeneous (SD=0.51).

Evidence 1.5 Subject matter knowledge according to Portfolios of Teacher Candidates

Another evidence for the subject matter knowledge is the portfolios of teacher candidates in the final clinical experience course EDUC 4913 and ARED 4913. Data of this type of evaluation are included in Table 12. Information about the Music Education candidates was not included because they were not evaluated with the portfolio rubric in MUED 4919 and MUED 4920.

As observed in Table 14, the performance of the teacher candidates in the subject matter knowledge (2012 to 2014) was graded as superior academic achievement (3.52 in a 4 points scale or “A”), according to the evaluation with the rubric Self-check and Check of Portfolios. The standard deviation indicate homogeneous answers or agreement in the item related to subject-matter knowledge (SD=0.44). Their evaluation was lower than May 2010, the base-line data (3.80, “A”, superior academic achievement).

Summary of evidences for Subject matter Knowledge of TEP’s Teacher Candidates

The summary of the evaluation of the subject-matter knowledge of TEP’s teacher candidates is presented in Table 15. All assessments evidenced an accomplishment of Claim 1 (5 of 5 assessments, 100.00%).

Claim 2: Pedagogical Knowledge

Teacher candidates and completers (graduates) of the TEP demonstrate pedagogical knowledge and the required skills to apply them to the teaching of their subject matter by achieving a performance above the passing scores of standardized test for teacher certification (PCMAS) and 80% (above average attainment or satisfactory) or more.

Evidence 2.1 Pedagogical knowledge in PCMAS (Professional Competencies)

The pedagogical knowledge is evaluated by the Teacher Certification Tests (PCMAS) in the Professional Competencies exams (College Board^{b,c}, 2010, 2011, 2012, 2013, 2014). The passing scores as reported by College Board are presented in Table 16.

The professional competencies measured in PCMAS for the elementary level include all teacher candidates of the majors PK, K-3, 4th-6th, and Elementary Physical Education. The secondary level includes all teacher candidates or completers of the majors: Spanish, English, Mathematics, Science, Social Studies, and Secondary Physical Education. Teacher candidates or completers of Special Education, School Health, Adapted Physical Education, Art Education, and Music Education took one of the tests (elementary level or secondary level). There are no differences between the various elementary or secondary areas in regard to on this test.

In general terms, the TEP's teacher candidates performance (2011 to 2014) in the Professional Competencies was higher than the passing score required by the Department of Education of Puerto Rico (DEPR, 2007) in all levels (Elementary: 108.7 vs. 89.0; Secondary: 111.5 vs. 87.0). Their performance was also higher than the statewide population performance (Elementary level: 102.8 and Secondary level: 103.8). In the other hand, the performance of teacher candidates in 2011 to 2014 was lower than base-line year of 2010 at the elementary level (108.7 vs 109.0) and greater than base-line year at the secondary level (111.5 vs 103.0).

Evidence 2.2 Aggregate Assessment Level Pass-Rate for Professional Competences (Pedagogical Knowledge) in PCMAS

The second evidence related to PCMAS and the second TEP's claim is the Aggregate-Assessment Level Pass-Rate Data for Regular Teacher Preparation Program. This report is submitted by College Board^a (2010-2011, 2011-2012, 2012-2013, 2013-2014) to the TEP of San Germán Campus. It certifies the proportion of program teacher candidates who passed all the tests they took in each knowledge area, among all program completers who took one or more tests in each area. In Table 17 is presented the aggregate-assessment level pass-rate for Professional Competencies (Pedagogical Knowledge). TEP in 2011 to 2014 has a net difference with Statewide of 6%. The three of four annual pass rate of TEP were bigger than the base-line year.

Evidence 2.3 Major (Specialization) Exams in PCMAS and Major’s GPA of Teacher Candidates

The third evidence of the pedagogical knowledge is provided by the data analysis of official academic transcripts of the TEP’s teacher candidates as were reported by the Registrar Office. Table 18 presents information about the performance of our teacher candidates in the test of Professional competencies of PCMAS, and in TEP’s courses. In general terms, the mean in the professional competencies of PCMAS for the TEP’s teacher candidates (2013 & 2014) is higher than the passing score for the different measured areas (Major: 109.5 vs. 88.0). The academic performance of TEP’s teacher candidates can be interpreted as “above average academic achievement” in subject matter courses (Major mean = 3.33 or “B” in a scale of 4.0 points) according to the grading system at the University (IAUPR, 2015d). In the other hand, the teacher candidates performance in 2013 was lower than 2010, the base-line data year but greater in 2014. Their GPA was lower than base-line year in 2013 & 2014.

Evidence 2.4 Final Grades Distribution in EDUC, ARED and MUED Courses

The fourth evidence for pedagogical knowledge is the final grades distribution in Education, Arts Education and Music Education courses. The distribution was provided by the Registrar Office in the report SWGDIS for academic years 2012-2013 and 2013-2014 (IAUPR, 2014^c, 2015^d). Table 19 shows that the Fundamentals of Education courses had a mean of 3.11 (“B”, above average academic achievement), the Methodology courses had a mean of 3.42 (“B”, above average academic achievement), and the students that took the Integration courses obtained a “P” (Approval).

Evidence 2.5 Final Grades of TEP’s Teacher Candidates in EDUC core courses

The fifth evidence for pedagogical knowledge is the final grades in Education core courses of TEP’s teacher candidates (2013-2014). Data was provided by the report SWGDIS for academic year 2013-2014 (IAUPR, 2015^e). Table 20 shows that the Fundamentals of Education courses had a mean of 3.03 (“B”, above average academic achievement), the Methodology courses had a mean of 3.16 (“B”, above average academic achievement), and three of the Field and Clinical courses had a mean of 3.70 (“A”, superior academic achievement). In general, the achievement of TEP’s completers in 2013-2014 was 3.30 “B” or above average academic achievement.

Evidence 2.6 Departmental final exams in EDUC core courses

The sixth evidence for pedagogical knowledge is the scores in departmental final exams in Education core courses. These exams are offered at the end of each semester or academic term, and represent the 15% of each course final grade. Table 21 shows the scores. In general, the core courses evidenced a deficiency in academic achievement (mean of 69.9 or “D”). The collected data is different. The data points to a revision of the departmental exams vis a vis courses syllabus in order to reexamine their validity and reliability.

Evidence 2.7 Survey to Students of Teacher Candidates

The seventh evidence for pedagogical knowledge is the survey to students of TEP’s teacher candidates. The answers are presented in Table 22. Information about the Music Education candidates was not included because they were not evaluated with this survey in MUED 4915/4919 and MUED 4916/4920. All surveyed students of the TEP expressed a high level of satisfaction with teacher candidates’ pedagogical knowledge (2.00 in PK, 1.98 in K-3^{er}, and 1.90 in 4th-12th grades of 2 points scale). The standard deviation indicates that the answers were homogeneous (SD=0.04).

Evidence 2.8 Self-evaluation of Teacher Candidates

The eighth evidence for pedagogical knowledge is provided by the self-evaluation of TEP’s teacher candidates. Information about the Music Education candidates was not included because they did not answer the self-evaluation questionnaire in MUED 4915/4919 and MUED 4916/4920. The answers are presented in Table 23. TEP’s teacher candidates expressed a high level of satisfaction with how the program developed in then the pedagogical knowledge (4.61 in a Likert style scale, “Totally agree”). The standard deviation indicates that the answers were homogeneous (SD=0.50).

Evidence 2.9 Portfolios of Teacher Candidates

Another evidence for the pedagogic knowledge is the portfolios of teacher candidates in the final clinical experience course EDUC 4913 and ARED 4913. Data of this type of evaluation are included in Table 22. Information about the Music Education candidates was not included because they were not evaluated with the portfolio rubric in MUED 4919 and MUED 4920.

As observed in Table 24, the performance of the teacher candidates in pedagogic knowledge (2012 to 2014) was graded as superior academic achievement (3.66 in a 4 points scale or "A"), according to the evaluation with the rubric Self-check and Check of Portfolios. The standard deviation indicate homogeneous answers or agreement in the item related to subject-matter knowledge (SD=0.46).

Evidence 2.10 Evaluation of Teacher Candidates in Clinical Courses

The tenth evidence is the evaluation of TEP's teacher candidates in clinical course EDUC 4013 and ARED 4013. Table 25 presents the final average allotted by University Supervisors and Cooperating Teachers. Information about the Music Education candidates in MUED 4915/4919 and MUED 4916/4920 was not included. In general, the Teacher Candidates were evaluated by their University Supervisors with 93.96% ("A", Superior academic achievement) and by their Cooperating Teachers with 95.05% ("A", Superior academic achievement). The correlation between evaluators was positive adequate ($r = 0.75$).

Evidence 2.11 Final Grades Distribution in Clinical Courses

The eleventh evidence for pedagogical knowledge is the final grades distribution in Education, Arts Education and Music Education clinical courses. The distribution was provided by the Registrar Office in the report SWGDIS for academic years 2012-2013 and 2013-2014 (IAUPR, 2014^c, 2015^d). Table 26 shows that the clinical courses had a mean of 3.98 (“A”, Superior academic achievement).

Claim 3: Caring and Effective Teaching Skills (Professional Dispositions)

Teacher candidates and completers (graduates) of the TEP demonstrate commitment and positive attitudes toward their students and to teaching and professional development by achieving a performance of 80% (above average attainment or satisfactory) or more.

Evidence 3.1 Survey to Students of Teacher Candidates

The first evidence for caring and effective teaching skills (professional dispositions) is the survey to students of TEP's teacher candidates and is included in Table 28. Information about the Music Education candidates in MUED 4915/4919 and MUED 4916/4920 was not included. All surveyed students of the TEP expressed a high level of satisfaction with teachers candidates caring and effective teaching skills or professional dispositions (1.97 in PK, 1.97 in K-3^{er}, and 1.90 in 4th-12th grades of 2 point scales). The standard deviation indicates that the answers were homogeneous (SD=0.02).

Evidence 3.2 Self-evaluation of Teacher Candidates

The second evidence for caring and effective teaching skills (professional dispositions) is provided by the self-evaluation of TEP's teacher candidates. Information about the Music Education candidates in MUED 4915/4919 and MUED 4916/4920 was not included. The answers are presented in Table 29. All TEP's teacher candidates expressed a high level of satisfaction how the program developed in them the caring and effective teaching skills or professional dispositions (4.63 in a Likert style scale, "Totally agree"). The standard deviation indicates that the answers were homogeneous (SD=0.55).

The university supervisors and cooperating teachers completed the rubric Evaluation of the Willingness of the Student Teacher: Affection and Sensitivity for each teacher candidate. Data of this type of evaluation are included in Table 30. Information about the Music Education candidates in MUED 4915/4919 and MUED 4916/4920 was not included. The university supervisors and cooperating teachers agreed that our teacher candidates accomplished these competences (1.96 of 2.0 points).

Claim 4.1: Cross-cutting theme Learning How to Learn

Teacher candidates and completers (graduates) of the TEP demonstrate that they have learned how to access information on their own (research), that they can transfer what they have learned to new situations, and that they have acquired the attitudes and skills that will support life-long learning in their field by achieving a performance of above average attainment or satisfactory or more.

Evidence 4.1.1 Final Grades Distribution in EDUC, HPER, and ARED Courses

The first evidence for learning how to learn claim is the final grades distribution in research Education courses (EDUC 4012; HPER 4110, HPER 4120, HPER 4130, HPER 4140), and Arts Education courses (ARED 4015). The distribution was provided by the Registrar Office in the report SWGDIS for academic years 2012-2013 and 2013-2014 (IAUPR, 2014^c, 2015^d). Table 32 shows that the courses related to claim 4.1 had a mean of 3.17 (“B”, above average academic achievement).

F = No honor points per credit hour, Failure in academic achievement (59.9% or less)

P = Approval, no honor points

N/A = Not applicable/No means

Evidence 4.1.2 Final Grades of TEP’s Teacher Candidates in EDUC core courses

The second evidence for learning how to learn claim is the final grades in Education core course EDUC 4012 of TEP’s teacher candidates (2013-2014). Data was provided by the report SWDCAEPSTD, SWBCAPSTD, SWBCAPSTD_MAJOR (IAUPR, 2015^g). The teacher candidates enrolled in EDUC 4012 (n=18) had a mean of 3.17 (“B”, above average academic achievement).

Evidence 4.1.3 Departmental final exams in EDUC 4012

The third evidence for learning how to learn claim is the scores in departmental final exams in Education course EDUC 4012. These exams are offered at the end of each semester or academic term, and represent the 15% of each course final grade. Table 33 shows the scores. In general, the core courses evidenced a deficiency in academic achievement (mean of 69.9 or “D”). The collected data is different. The data points to a revision of the departmental exams vis a vis courses syllabus in order to reexamine their validity and reliability.

D = 1 honor point per credit hour, Deficiency in academic achievement (69.9-60.0%)

F = No honor points per credit hour, Failure in academic achievement (59.9% or less)

Evidence 4.1.4 Self-evaluation of Teacher Candidates

The fourth evidence for learning how to learn claim is provided by the self-evaluation of TEP’s teacher candidates. Information about the Music Education candidates was not included because they did not answer the self-evaluation questionnaire in MUED 4915/4919 and MUED 4916/4920. The answers are presented in Table 34. TEP’s teacher candidates expressed a positive level of satisfaction with how the program developed in then the learning how to learn claim (4.49 in a Likert style scale, “Agree”). The standard deviation indicates that the answers were homogeneous (SD=0.81).

Evidence 4.1.5 Portfolios of Teacher Candidates

Another evidence for the learning how to learn claim is the portfolios of teacher candidates in the final clinical experience course EDUC 4913 and ARED 4913. Data of this type of evaluation are included in Table 35. Information about the Music Education candidates was not included because they were not evaluated with the portfolio rubric in MUED 4919 and MUED 4920.

As observed in Table 35, the performance of the teacher candidates in learning how to learn claim (2012 to 2014) was graded as superior academic achievement (3.61 in a 4 points scale or “A”), according to the evaluation with the rubric Self-check and Check of Portfolios. The standard deviation indicate homogeneous answers or agreement in the item related to subject-matter knowledge (SD=0.44).

Evidence 4.2.3 Departmental final exams in EDUC 2022, EDUC 2031, EDUC 2032 and EDUC 2870

The third evidence for diversity claim is the scores in departmental final exams in core courses EDUC 2022, EDUC 2031, EDUC 2032 and EDUC 2870. These exams are offered at the end of each semester or academic term, and represent the 15% of each course final grade. Table 21 shows the scores. In general, the core courses evidenced an average academic achievement (EDUC 2022=74.4%, “C”; EDUC 2031=68.2%, “D”; EDUC 2032=69.0%, “D”; EDUC 2870=73.8%, “C”; mean of 71.4% or “C” in a Standard scale (IAUPR, 2015^d, pp. 68-69)).

Evidence 4.2.4 Survey to Students of Teacher Candidates

The fourth evidence for diversity claim is the survey to students of TEP’s teacher candidates and is included in Table 40. Information about the Music Education candidates in MUED 4915/4919 and MUED 4916/4920 was not included. All surveyed students of the TEP expressed a high level of satisfaction with teachers candidates caring and effective teaching skills or professional dispositions (1.96 in 4th-12th grades of 2 point scales). The standard deviation indicates that the answers were homogeneous (SD=0.01).
